

The Tulane Hullabaloo

PREFERRED PRONOUN POLICY

Hullabaloo reporters must ask anyone they interview their preferred pronoun(s). It is not up to the reporter to assume but a question that must be asked during the interview.

It may be unusual for some readers at first, but will soon become second-nature. There will also be a disclaimer at the bottom of each article with quotes/reference to an individual who has requested the usage of a different pronoun as a point of explanation.

By instituting the option of gender neutrality, we seek to be more accepting as an organization as well as more inclusive with our coverage and more responsible to the community we serve.

If you're having trouble with any of these rules, talk to someone about it sooner rather than later. Things happen. We understand.

-----Getting to Know Gender-Neutral Pronouns! -----

Traditional Masculine	He laughed	I called him	His eyes gleam	That is his	He likes himself
Traditional Feminine	She laughed	I called her	Her eyes gleam	That is hers	She likes herself
Gender Neutral (Singular They)	They laughed	I called them	Their eyes gleam	That is theirs	They like themselves
Gender Neutral (Ze)	Ze laughed (pronounced: "zee" as in the letter 'z')	I called hir (pronounced: "here")	Hir eyes gleam (pronounced: "here")	That is hirs (pronounced: "here's")	Ze likes hirsself (pronounced: "here- self")

For They, if possible, use the individual's last name to clarify as readers may be confused on if we are referring to an individual or a group.
